

Hi Guys,

While in Penang I came across an old truck junkyard or better a place where the owner parked his trucks and never used again. I asked him if I can record the doors of the old trucks and after they allowed it to me I was able to get some really fun recordings. In total I recorded five different doors before the rain started and each on of them sounds different.

One door sounds more rich and impactful and another one is lighter and has an “empty” impact. I got sounds of squeaking doors, “raining” dirt after I closed the door and some have just a nice clean closing sounds. It is very sad to see that these trucks just rotten but I believe we can give them a new life in post. If you use them they will live forever in your work.

Greetings
Marcel
